The World's Most Versatile Medical Aesthetic Laser 650-microsecond Technology

FDA cleared for more than 30 applications

Advances in technology tend to make products smaller and more affordable, yet more powerful at the same time. Aerolase has done exactly that in the field of aesthetic lasers. Internally air-cooled LightPod technology utilizes compact, high-power electronics, which replaces the traditional design concept of bulky, stationary water-cooled lasers, eliminating the internal water circulating system (the primary reason for the extreme size and weight of traditional lasers) as well as the fiber optic cables and light-guides - which are common repair trouble-points of this previous generation of lasers. Also, with a single handpiece design, there are no costly consumables such as tips or extra handpieces and includes an industry leading 1,000,000 pulse warranty. The breakthrough of 650-microsecond pulse technology enables the production of high and low fluences ranging from 4 J/cm2 to 255 J/cm2 all within this single 650µsec pulse duration.
